- 4.4.2 If the foregoing formula fails to permit the selection of an animal for the purpose, the next animal for which application for registration is pending by another breeder shall be substituted.

(Rev. 2007)

- 4.4.3 In the event of further failure to select an animal for the purpose, the next animal for which application for registration from another Principal Region is pending shall be substituted.

(Repealed 2007)

- 4.5 The cost of obtaining samples for proof of parentage, their delivery to the laboratory approved by the Society and the laboratory charges shall be born by the breeder, provided that, in the case of a positive proof of parentage resulting, the laboratory charges shall be reimbursed by the Society.

- 4.6 If, in its discretion, the Society deems the proof of parentage to be inconclusive, the breeder may, at the breeder's expense, repeat the proof of parentage procedure, using fresh samples for proof of parentage, taken by a qualified veterinary jointly selected by the breeder and the Society; provided that, in the case of a positive proof of parentage resulting, all of the laboratory charges shall be reimbursed by the Society.

16. Multiple Breeding

- 16.1 A breeder's rights and privileges respecting registration and transfer of animals, produced by a female or an identifiable group of females over the age of 10 months, may be suspended if, in respect of that female or group, more than one bull over that age has had access. Such rights and privileges may be reinstated by the Society, in its discretion, upon proof of parentage of such animals as are born within a period of up to 12 months prior to the observation of the surplus bull or bulls and terminating 10 months subsequent to the removal of such bull or bulls.
- 16.2 Notwithstanding the foregoing,

- 16.2.2 in the event of the applicability of the provisions of Sections 63, 64 or 65 of the Act, a breeder's rights and privileges respecting registration and transfer of animals shall be suspended pending the disposal of the issues by the Society, pursuant to its bylaws and regulations and the provisions of the Act.
- 16.3 In cases where, in the judgment of the Board of Directors, proof of parentage is not conclusive, the animals affected shall be ineligible for registration; and, if such an animal has already been registered, the registration shall be annulled.
- 16.4 A female animal already exposed to a bull, either naturally or by artificial insemination, shall not be exposed to another bull until at least 18 days have elapsed since exposure to the first bull, failing which the resulting calves shall be subject to proof of parentage prior to their registration in the Herd Book.

17. Genetic Identification and Proof of Parentage

- 17.1 Genetic identification involves the determination of the genetic imprint of an individual animal. Proof of parentage is the establishment of the identity of the sire and dam of an individual animal, involving the comparison of the genetic imprints of all three.
- 17.2 Genetic identification or proof of parentage of an animal shall be performed by blood-typing or deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA) analysis.
- (Text to be amended) laboratory. The Society may, however, in its discretion, permit the breeder or the breeder's representative, in the presence of a representative of the Society, to perform the functions of the veterinary.

(Text to be amended)

Protocol

Governing the holding of a deemed meeting (by email)
of the Board of Directors of the Society

Introduction

Several articles of the Bylaws currently govern the holding of deemed meetings of the Board of Directors of the Society. Considering that the Bylaws only mention conference calls for holding such a meeting and taking into account that the Bylaws were written in 1993, before the general usage of electronic mail and other means of communication, it is necessary to adapt and update the procedure for deemed meetings to take account of these new methods of communication.

Four steps are necessary in the process of holding a deemed meeting of the Board of Directors:

- transmission of the notice of meeting and of the draft resolution by the President or a group of at least three directors;
- discussion of the proposal;
- vote on the original proposal or on an amended proposal, following discussion;
- transmission of the result of the vote to all directors by the Secretary-manager.

Following detailed study of the Bylaws, and in particular of Article 11 in Section Five, we feel that it is both possible and desirable to use the following procedure during deemed meetings by email, and in particular when a decision by the Board of Directors is needed.

Therefore, we propose the following protocol:

1 Deemed meeting by email.

Deemed meetings by email of the Board of Directors are called by the Secretary-manager, by order of the President or by order of at least three directors, as often as may be required to attend to the business and affairs of the Society. Failing the Secretary-manager, the President or the same directors, as the case may be, may call a deemed meeting.

2 Notice

The notice of a deemed meeting must specify the purpose of the meeting. If possible, a proposed resolution must also be transmitted to the established email address of each director.

3 Duration of the meeting.

The duration of a deemed meeting by email is at least seven working days, in order to allow each director to express his/her opinion on the subject under study. The time of the meeting can be prolonged if the majority of the directors so wish and in particular if, in order to make an informed decision, additional information is required.

4 Quorum.

Four directors participating in a meeting form a quorum for the transaction of the meeting.

5 Vote.

Matters dealt with at meetings are decided by the vote of the majority of the directors participating in the meeting. In the case of an equality of votes, the chairman may exercise a casting vote in addition to the vote as a director. Voting by proxy is prohibited.

6 Minutes.

Minutes shall be kept of each meeting. In the event that the Secretary-manager is unable to participate, the draft minutes shall be transmitted immediately to the Secretary-manager. Copy of the minutes shall be sent to each director by the Secretary-manager within fifteen days of the holding of the meeting.

7. Absent Directors.

A director, who does not take part in the vote for some reason, will be considered absent from the meeting. However, a director who foresees that s/he will not be present when the vote is called may express his opinion in advance by sending his vote to the Secretary-manger before the anticipated date of the vote. In this way, he will be considered to be present.
